Critical Thinking and Decision-Making

Evaluate and Solve Day-to-day Business Problems
Systematically and Methodically

Program starts in September 2024

Critical Thinking and Decision-Making

Evaluate and Solve Day-to-day Business Problems
Systematically and Methodically

OVERVIEW

With the challenges that many organizations are facing in the new normal, companies have identified critical thinking and decision-making as essential skills that are integral to their long-term success. The most capable leaders can scan and assess the environment, analyze the problem, design a solution, and implement with excellence to win in a competitive market.

Given the volatile environment, individual contributors, supervisors, managers, and entrepreneurs alike need to understand how to evaluate and solve day-to-day business problems systematically and methodically.

A proven methodology for critical thinking and decision-making is used by many successful companies globally today. It emphasizes the step-by-step approach for exploring solutions, successfully solving problems, making good decisions, and identifying risks and opportunities.

As a critical learning outcome of the program, participants will be able to apply the conceptual framework on real-life challenges they face at work.

Critical Thinking and Decision-Making are essential skills required for today's professionals and first line leaders to add value and contribute to the success of the company.
